Scott Marvel says: "If you have a smartphone, I want to teach you how to tell a story with your camera – to make short videos that will hold your viewers' interest. You'll produce your own video in class, working efficiently to make every shot count. You'll learn how to edit on your smartphone – bringing your clips into the editing program, reviewing them, and making a rough-cut of your movie. Then you'll re-arrange your clips for maximum impact, eliminate unwanted footage, and add titles, music, and narration.

"In this class, you will quickly create and share a short, story-telling video."
