Practical Everyday Uses of Artificial Intelligence

Dr. John G. Peters, Jr., (right) and Video Club President Jonathan Williams (below) will continue sharing their exciting exploration of AI and how to understand and use it.

The two began their occasional series, exploring the amazing new tool which simulates human capabilities, with a successful program on "Understanding and Using Artificial Intelligence" at the club's November 13, 2024 General Meeting.

"This time, we'll show you ways to make AI your helpful companion in everyday tasks around the house," says Peters, an experienced AI presenter and graduate of MIT's Sloan School of Computer Science & Artificial Intelligence Laboratory. A Village resident, Peters also serves as the club's Publicity Director.

"If you use Alexa, Siri, or GPS, or drive an electric car, you've already experienced AI in action," points out co-presenter. Williams, adding, "Many people feel unsure or even anxious about AI, but we'll guide you through everything in a friendly and easy-to-understand way."

Don't miss this chance to learn, ask questions, and see how AI can be a valuable tool for you!

Open without charge to all Village residents and their guests.

Refreshments at 6:30 pm - Program at 7:00 pm.
